

The Right to Control

Control and choice
for disabled people

Part 4 My Review Record

Is my Support Plan working?
Does anything need to change?

About this document

This part of the Routefinder is to make sure your Support Plan is working and you are getting the Outcomes you want.

You may get different parts of your support from different places, so you may want to talk to people from the different funds. It may help if the people who helped you write your plan take part in your reviews.

If parts of your Support Plan are not working, you should decide at the review what changes need to be made.

- You or someone else can fill in as much or as little of this form as you want. You can ask someone you know to help fill it in, or you can ask other disabled people for help.
- If you would like to find out where you can get more support, you can contact the Right to Control Centre for Independent Living (see back page).
- You can give this form to who ever you want.
- We will only tell the people who need to know about what you have said on this form.

To make it easier to follow and fill in, we have split the Routefinder into parts. There may be some parts you do not need to fill in.
