Research and Statistics

Disability Archive UK aims to provide disabled people, students and scholars access to the writings of those disability activists, writers and allies whose work may no longer be easily accessible in the public domain.

Jobs not Charity links to a research project carried out in partnership between the University of Sheffield, Breakthrough UK Ltd and GMCDP. The project examined disabled people's experiences of employment, and the work of organisations of disabled people to promote the employment opportunities of disabled people. The website includes a number of downloadable resources relevant to the project. The final research report can also be found on our publications page.

Disability Association Newsletters are provided to Breakthrough's Independent Employment Advocacy Centre as an information resource by the Research Institute for Health and Social Change (RIHSC), Manchester Metropolitan University, in association with the Disability Studies Association.

How Disabled People Manage in the Workplace is a summary of the Joseph Rowntree Foundation funded report 'Thriving and Surviving' from Breakthrough UK and others. It looks at the strategies disabled people use to hold down jobs.

For a critique of the way that statistics are generated about disabled people, please see the Policy Think Tank's response to the consultation on questions to be included in the 2011 Census (Word Doc).

Joseph Rowntree Foundation (JRF) supports social policy research. Research findings are available online.

Research and Statistics Gateway is produced by Analytical Services within the Department for Education and Skills. It brings together publications, facts and findings relevant to the government's work in this area.

UK Statistics Authority is now independent and promotes and safeguards the quality of official statistics in the UK. Statistics are available on a range of subjects including the economy, the labour market, the environment, population and society.

nomis gives free access to detailed and up-to-date UK labour market statistics from official sources.

Institute for Employment Studies is an independent, apolitical, international centre of research and consultancy in human resource issues. It works closely with employers in the manufacturing, service and public sectors, with government departments, agencies, and professional and employee bodies. Many of their publications are available online.
